PAYNES PRAIRIE had the pilot grab hold after ducking inward in an awkward at the break, recovered in short order and attained a prominent placing, was the outermost of a three way pace dispute on the turn, undertaking the role from the three path, began to edge away from the other two during the final jumps around the bend, responded positively when given his cue to extend the advantage, finished comfortably in the clear, crossing the finish line being hand urged. ABBOT chased the fighting threesome from the two path on the turn, fanned outward entering the stretch until in the six path by the eighth pole, rallied willingly enough to garner the place although never posing a threat to the winner. READY DANCER contended for colmmand from between rivals on the turn, weakened steadily down the lane into the show slot. DALMORE came in sharply leaving the gate, bothering its next door neighbor enough to cause it to get steadied early, was along the rail arguing for control against two others parked out in paths two and three for most of the way to the quarter pole before giving way. THE GREAT WHITEWAY was steadied after getting carried in by DALMORE at the start, saved ground to the quarter pole, got placed three wide at the head of the stretch, had no offering.
